Open-ended toys that connect

Play is a powerful connector. It bridges generations, sparks friendships, and fuels creativity. Every moment is an opportunity to dream, build, and discover.

Family founded and run since 2014, we believe in creativity,
imagination,
care and connection.

Inspired by this philosophy, Sybren created Waytoplay in 2003 for his son Joep.

What started as a simple idea became a toy road that sparks creativity, exploration, and connection through play.

At Waytoplay, this belief is at the heart of everything we do. We create toys that inspire open-ended play, sparking joy and helping children build ideas, friendships, and lifelong memories

IMAGINE YOUR WORLD

Waytoplay's story began with inspiration from Sybren's creative upbringing and career as a designer. His time at a Waldorf school deepened his belief in open-ended play — play that fosters freedom, exploration, and boundless creativity.

Endless possibilities

Build a basket, design mandalas, craft a hoop for tossing balls, a wheel, a tunnel, or any other imaginative object you can dream up. Rooted in the open-ended play philosophy, Arches let you turn your ideas into reality. The only limit? Your imagination.

Perfect to combine

The Arches combine with all kinds of toys, from our flexible toy road to balls, wooden blocks, and play figures. They inspire endless creativity, making playtime more exciting and versatile for kids aged 3 to 12.
